Foreword

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes (ISO member bodies). The work of developing International Standards is carried out through ISO technical committees. Every member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been set up has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work.

Draft International Standards adopted by the technical committees are circulated to the member bodies for approval before their acceptance as International Standards by the ISO Council.

International Standard ISO 5904 was developed by Technical Committee ISO/TC 83, Sports and recreational equipment, and was circulated to the member bodies in April 1980.

It has been approved by the member bodies of the following countries :

Austria	Netherlands	South Africa, Rep. of
Egypt, Arab Rep. of	New Zealand	Spain
Germany, F. R.	Poland	Switzerland
India	Romania	USSR

The member bodies of the following countries expressed disapproval of the document on technical grounds :

France
United Kingdom

This International Standard was drawn up in co-operation with the International Gymnastic Federation (IGF).
