FOREWORD

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes (ISO member bodies). The work of developing International Standards is carried out through ISO technical committees. Every member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been set up has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work.

Draft International Standards adopted by the technical committees are circulated to the member bodies for approval before their acceptance as International Standards by the ISO Council.

Prior to 1972, the results of the work of the technical committees were published as ISO Recommendations; these documents are in the process of being transformed into International Standards. As part of this process, Technical Committee ISO/TC 47, Chemistry, has reviewed ISO Recommendation R 1913-1971 and found it technically suitable for transformation. Number 1913, however, has been changed to 731/VII. International Standard ISO 731/VII therefore replaces ISO Recommendation R 1913-1971, to which it is technically identical.

ISO Recommendation R 1913 had been approved by the member bodies of the following countries :

Australia	India	Spain
Austria	Iran	Sweden
Belgium	Israel	Switzerland
Czechoslovakia	Japan	Thailand
Egypt, Arab Rep. of	Netherlands	Turkey
France	New Zealand	United Kingdom
Germany	Portugal	U.S.A.
Greece	Romania	U.S.S.R.
Hungary	South Africa, Rep. of

No member body had expressed disapproval of the Recommendation.

The member body of the following country disapproved the transformation of the Recommendation into an International Standard :
