

Methods of test for masonry —

Part 3: Determination of initial shear strength

The European Standard EN 1052-3:2002, incorporating amendment A1:2007, has the status of a British Standard

ICS 91.080.30

National foreword

This British Standard is the UK implementation of EN 1052-3:2002, incorporating amendment A1:2007.

The start and finish of text introduced or altered by amendment is indicated in the text by tags $\boxed{A1}$ $\langle A1 \rangle$. Tags indicating changes to CEN text carry the number of the CEN amendment. For example, text altered by CEN amendment A1 is indicated by $\boxed{A1}$ $\langle A1 \rangle$.

The UK participation in its preparation was entrusted by Technical Committee B/519, Masonry and associated tests, to Subcommittee B/519/4, Tests.

A list of organizations represented on this subcommittee can be obtained on request to its secretary.

EN 1052-3:2002 is a supporting standard to the “harmonized” European product standard specification EN 998-2, which fully takes into account the requirements of the European Commission mandate M116, Masonry and related products, given under the EU Construction Products Directive (89/106/EEC), and is intended to lead to CE marking.

This publication does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users are responsible for its correct application.

Compliance with a British Standard cannot confer immunity from legal obligations.

This British Standard was published under the authority of the Standards Policy and Strategy Committee on 13 August 2002
